Woods Electrics do Ride Easiest

NO question about that. It rides easier on solid rubber tires than other cars ride on pneumatic tires. Now why!

One reason is larger springs, with more and finer steel; greater number of individual leaves on each spring. Notice any Woods Electric and you will see that the front spring is full elliptic—a very unusual feature.

Another reason is that the rear springs are given a leverage—they are mounted, not on the rear axle, but on radius rods forward of the rear axle. This is an exclusive Woods feature and makes the Woods car the most wonderful riding machine in the world. We can demonstrate this to your satisfaction any date in the week.

The splendid springs that make all roads smooth for you, also protecting the car itself from harmful vibration. That is one reason why Woods Electrics are so wonderfully durable.

Let us mail you information about the "16" Series, containing many advanced features—Now Ready.
